

Listening with the Spirit Brochure—contains basic information

What is Spiritual Direction?

Spiritual direction is a contemplative practice of being with an individual or group as they attempt to deepen their relationship with the divine, or to learn and grow in their own personal spirituality. The person seeking direction shares stories of his or her encounters of the divine, or how he or she is experiencing spiritual issues or relationships. It is a dynamic process where one can listen to self in order to reflect on life's questions in light of our call. Spiritual direction helps us to learn how to live in peace, with compassion, promoting justice and love. (Thoughts from Spiritual Direction International)

“The whole purpose of Spiritual Direction is to penetrate beneath the surface of a person's life, to get behind the facade of conventional gestures and attitudes which one presents to the world, and to bring out one's inner spiritual freedom, one's inmost trust...the likeness of Christ in one's soul.” Thomas Merton

How to Identify the Call to Spiritual Direction

Do others approach you for conversation on topics that have deeper meaning and revolve around God or sacred ground?

Do such conversations give you life and feel like a priority in your life?

Are you able to live out of a contemplative spirit?

Can you appreciate the subtleties and varieties of human communication:

listen to hear the meaning behind words, to see meaning reflected in one's body, in one's life, and in the silence where our souls commune?

Considerations

Attendance at all sessions enriches your experience and that of the group. This program builds on each session. We hope you will be able to attend each session.

If you are in a very in depth transition or a life crisis, we suggest that you wait until you've worked through your personal issues.

If you know in advance that you have chronic health issues or family emergencies that might interrupt your attendance during the two year program, this could interfere with your process and the group's process. Travel or too much work and/or outside commitments need to be discerned.
