Images of Peace in Our World

By Monika Ellis, OSB

As I was driving our retreat director, Sister Miriam Therese Winter, back to the airport, I asked her, "Aren't millions of people around the world praying for peace everyday? So, why don't we have peace?" She thought about it for a moment, and then she said, "Well, Monika, I suppose we need to realize that we do have peace." I was startled by her answer, and her words have been resounding within me ever since.

This little bit of conversation led me to consider how our community could help others to realize, that is, to make real, the peace we already have, even though we know there are places in great need. Every day we are barraged by images in the media that seem to contradict what Sister Miriam Therese said. And when we focus too much on those images, we become more and more unable to perceive the peace that is here right before our eyes. When we focus on the peace that is right here, we create more peace. When we live peace, speak peace, think and pray peace, we spread peace to all the corners of God's world. Our thoughts and actions are effective and wide ranging.

Peace comes in right relationship, that is, in relating authentically to our friend, spouse, child, co-worker, etc. We have peace while walking through the woods, in the mountains, or on the beach where the breeze is refreshing and the scenery majestic. Peace comes when looking at our children and imagining their future or looking at our aging parents and remembering in gratitude. We have peace when we make a decision based on our values. We have peace in the special presence of a beloved pet or other beloved companion. Peace comes in the act of creating, when our spirit is connected to the Creator's spirit. Peace comes when we encourage another person or help to carry a heavy burden, as Jesus taught us. Peace comes when we give ourselves over to the Holy Spirit and use our gifts for the good of the world.

Art has a particularly strong power to evoke a response in the heart of the viewer. We have invited artists to bring their works here to show them and help us reflect about the peace that exists in our lives. Some of them are painters who find beauty in nature or in objects that draw us into responsiveness. Some of them work with clay or glass creating shapes and sparkle to delight us. Some are calligraphers and photographers with messages of wisdom and light. They have all expressed enthusiasm for the theme of the show—some with smiles and nods of understanding and some with tears of appreciation. We asked students in local schools to draw images of peace. A free exhibition of these drawings will be in the main lobby of the monastery.

This show is also a fund-raiser. The income generated will be shared between our community and the Intercommunity Peace and Justice Center (IPJC). You can read about IPJC at ipjc.org. It is a collaborative peace and justice project of the religious communities in the Pacific Northwest.

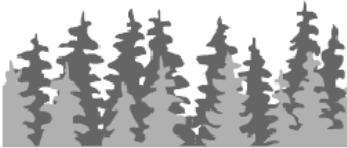

May is the month of Mary, Queen of Peace. We have dedicated the show to Mary. You will notice this dedication in the design of our logo and poster. You will notice more evidence of this dedication to Mary when you arrive for the show.

Come with family and friends to enjoy the art, reflect on peace, meet some of the artists, make a purchase or two, and have fun with the community of folks who live here.

Mary, Queen of Peace, Pray for Us!

From the Priory

Oblate Barbara Robertson left last August 25 to attend a training offered by The Women of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America for Lutheran women from all over the U.S. It was called "Today's Dream, Tomorrow's Reality." The topic was racial justice advocacy.

On September 10, here at St. Placid Priory, the St. Placid High School Class of 1971 gathered for reunion. Sister Sharon McDonald and Sister Lucy Wynkoop joined their celebration.

Sister Julian Cleary spoke on vocations with Hispanic youth at Lacey's Sacred Heart parish on September 15.

Our volunteer Jerry Haupt built and placed some new benches all around our grounds in September. More places to sit and pray and enjoy the scenery.

On September 17, the Feast of Hildegard of Bingen, Oblate Barbara Robertson became our first Postulant Claustral Oblate. The ritual took place at Evening Praise and we enjoyed a celebration afterward.

Novice Molly Cady, Oblate Barbara Robertson, Sister Julian Cleary and Sister Laura Swan attended the regional Religious Formation Conference gathering in Renton on September 24. The gathering was entitled: "Conversations at the Well: Crossing over to Meet the Other and Oneself" with Sister Helen Marie Burns, RSM.

On October 1, Sonja McLaughlin, her brother, Armin and sister-in-law, Suzanna, who were visiting from Germany, joined us for lunch. Sonja is our cook. (See photo at right)

Eight All Saints' 7th grade girls and the three adults with them were here on a day retreat October 3, joining us for lunch, a mid-afternoon cookie break and Mass. They were delightful!

The Priory Knitters & Spinners took their needle-felted and other hand-made items to Schafer Meadows Fiber Arts Festival in Elma October 7-9. They also had a booth at Bearzaar at Olympia High School November 19 and happily report they did very well.

On October 12, Sister Maureen O'Larey attended a Trends workshop, which is a program designed to help religious communities plan for the future.

About 50 people attended Cynthia Trenshaw's presentation "Meeting in the Margins" on Sunday, October 16. Those who came were invited to tell their stories and reflect on their experiences of working with the poor.

Sr. Alphonsa O'Donnell, OSB
First Superior at Holy Rosary Convent

In October, Holy Rosary Parish in Tacoma celebrated its 125th Jubilee. Sisters Laura Swan and Maureen O'Larey attended Mass there to help celebrate. Benedictines have a long history there (see photo above).

Sisters Monika Ellis and Laura Swan, Novice Molly Cady and Oblate Camille Wooden attended the October 29 Sacred Music Concert at Saint Martin's University. They were awed by the beauty of the performance.

Sisters Lucy Wynkoop and Laura Swan attended the Interfaith Works All Souls Day service on October 30 in memory of the abandoned dead and suicides in Thurston County. Sister Laura Swan gave the eulogy.

On October 31, Sister Julian Cleary and Oblate Barbara Robertson helped to prepare food for the poor at the Salvation Army. They were invited by members of Grupo Guadalupano, who do this regularly, to share in this ministry.

Sister Julian and Oblate Barbara with Grupo Guadalupano on October 31

Oblate Camille Wooden and Novice Molly Cady attended a November 11-12 presentation entitled "Healthy Sexual Integration in Religious Life" by licensed clinical psychologist Kathy Galleher, PhD.

Sister Julian Cleary traveled on November 13 to Fife to give a talk at Mass on vocations at St. Paul Chong Hasang Parish. Sister Julian is a member of St. Placid Priory's New Membership Team.

Oblate Camille Wooden

Oblate Camille Wooden, who now lives with us and, among other things, helps Sister Laura Swan in Archives, received a certificate on November 18 for the online studies she did for archival work. The six-week course was given by the American Association for State and Local History. Oblate Camille, retired after some 40 years as a fifth and sixth grade teacher, has many talents. She bakes a delicious cinnamon roll, loves history, and has a great sense of humor.

Also on November 18, Oblate Barbara Robertson and Sister Laura Swan attended “Theology Uncorked” at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church. The talk, given by Samuel Torvent, was entitled “Women Leaders in the Reformation: Voices Loud then Silenced.”

A small gathering for prayer on behalf of the clean water/Dakota Access Pipe-line protest by Native Americans and others, was held in the Priory Spirituality Center on November 26. Sister Lucy Wynkoop attended.

We appreciated having several Saint Martin's University theology students from Sister Laura's class and other students from Oblate Barbara's English class join us for dinner and a visit at various times during the fall.

Oblates Barbara Robertson and Camille Wooden with Sisters Julian Cleary and Laura Swan participated in the Guadalupe celebration at Sacred Heart parish on December 10. Our cook Keith Underwood and his wife along with our many Spanish-speaking friends were also in attendance. The Mass was beautiful.

On December 19, the community at St. Placid Priory invited our weekday Mass attendees for dinner after Mass. They brought their families and we ate in the Multipurpose Room. Our cook Keith Underwood prepared soup and other good things to eat. The star attraction of the evening was Galen, a wolfhound friend of Sister Mary Giles. We all had a good time getting to know each other better, using our best English or Spanish or sign language to communicate! (See photo at right)

Alex delivers Christmas wreaths

Our friend young Alex sold Christmas wreaths at St. Placid to support a project at his nearby school, delivering them in December. His class is putting on a Shakespearean play, then later they plan to go to Ashland, Oregon to see a production at the Oregon Shakespeare Festival. An exciting trip for these youngsters, and an experience in fundraising, too.

Our friends Hazel and Juli help support Alex's wreath project

Sister Mary Giles with wolfhound; Sister Sharon helps a young guest to pet him.

Video Project

Sisters Lucy Wynkoop and Julian Cleary began a project a few months ago to help women interested in religious life, especially monastic life, to understand more about how we live, work and pray—and how we maintain relationships with friends and family.

A couple of talented young women, Alicia Chen, who volunteered with us for several weeks, and Melissa Wright, who works at St. Placid Priory, have helped us to make videos. They interviewed several community members and also women who are discerning a call to our community. Some of these have been placed on our website.

Somaura Jackson tells her story; see stplacid.org under Join Us - Videos

Under the “Join Us” tab at stplacid.org one can now see interviews of the Sisters, our Novice, and women who are discerning a vocation to St. Placid Priory. The videos tell what drew the person to a Benedictine vocation at different stages, with different gifts in living the Benedictine call. Experiences discussed include life as a candidate, postulant, novice and initially professed Sister, as well as how one's gifts, roles, and past experiences integrate with a Benedictine vocation.

The wide variety of experiences discussed in these videos include those both within and outside of the monastic community such as: being an artist, attorney, elementary teacher, sailor, nurse, community leader and formation director or spiritual director.

“Discernment as a way of life,” “Liturgy of the Hours,” and “Ways of Being Community” give insights into Benedictine living at St. Placid. Ways to contact Sister Julian and Sister Lucy, the New Membership team, are provided at the end of each video.

We hope you enjoy this journey with us—and do watch for more videos!

GOINGS ON AT THE CENTER

"I have gone to a spiritual director for more than three years now and have loved every minute of it. So when the opportunity came along to learn the fine art of spiritual direction—to actually learn to be a spiritual director—I jumped at it. I never realized sharing my spiritual journey with others in the context of learning would be so enriching. I have learned so much from my fellow seekers. I have learned what it means to be a spiritual traveling companion—to love, to listen deeply, to hold someone's story in my heart, to feel the Holy Spirit move within, to know worthiness, to see the light shine in the eyes of others, to be curious. Mostly, I am grateful to be with others with whom I can share a spiritual conversation and experience, knowing that they understand and are listening with Spirit."

—Cathy Raymond

Listening with the Spirit 2017-19 is a two-year formation/discernment process to become a Spiritual Director.

Oasis 2016-17

"I often say I want to set aside time for quiet, uninterrupted reflection and prayer. I long for a sense of spaciousness in my mind and heart—a time to be open to God in an unhurried, contemplative way. But I find it is my ongoing challenge to simply slow down! Yet when I do, I am so grateful.

Being part of the Oasis Program helps me find these restful, prayerful moments on a monthly basis. Oasis is a time where I feel refreshed and encouraged, and where I'm generously reminded of God's love and grace. It's a touchstone for me—to rekindle my heart, refocus my intentions, and rediscover God's gifts."

—Teresa Enslin

Spiritual Practices of Aging 2017-18

This course provides not only information but also spiritual practices that help in aging well. In particular, it addresses the question: How does the contemplative life—one of prayer and encountering God—shape one for wisdom and resiliency in the second half of life? Looking at wisdom and resiliency as markers for facing the beauty and pain of getting older, each session addresses aspects of aging that require an "elegant kenosis"—letting go in the midst of embracing the life that God has given. Learning through awareness of God, others, and self lays the foundation for the entire course. Seeking to nurture the contemplative life, this course reminds us of the value of noticing, pausing, listening, and responding.

Deepening Women's Spirituality 2017-18

Join Amelia Carroll for a monthly gathering of renewal to look deeper into your spiritual soul. She will present timeless tales and questions for reflection and will give creative suggestions to strengthen connection to your spiritual self and to the wondrous and diverse world around you. Using poetry, meditation, journaling and creative and expressive art, this shared time will honor your story and bring meaning to your joys and sorrows. For women of all ages who are seeking to discover the universal power of connection, community and spirit.

Further information for the 2017-18 programs Oasis, Spirituality of Aging, Deepening Women's Spirituality and Listening with the Spirit can be found on our website: www.stplacid.org/programs under Long-Term Programs.

A reflection from another long-term program now in progress:

Longings of the Heart 2016-17

I enrolled in "Longings of the Heart" because I desired to gain greater insights into my own deepest longings, often camouflaged in my restlessness. This class is helping me to befriend my longings and name the restlessness through many different contemplative and creative practices, self-reflection time, and collective sharing—all happening within a safe space. I gain so much insight about myself and our collective humanity from my individual classmates as they vulnerably share their own deepest yearnings and while asking their own questions. The class is allowing me to encounter God's love for me and others and experience my truest desires in the present moment, not just gather more head knowledge. For God loves me as I am. I am learning to cry fraud when any of my faux, restless longings tempt me to acquire more possessions, or to base my self-worth on what people say about me (good or bad) or on what I do. Instead, I'm "acquiring" my truest longings in real time and discovering my true self!

Abbot Timothy Wright on Christians' and Muslims' Understandings of Spirituality

Sunday, March 26

1:30 – 3:00 PM

In the Priory Multipurpose Room

Christian and Muslim communities form the two largest religious groups in the world today. Each has a worldwide presence and each has considerable influence on both international and local affairs, religious and secular. Since the time of their respective founders, Jesus Christ for Christians and the Prophet Mohammad for Muslims, there has been much conflict. Some of it political or economic but a significant part of it has been religious. As communications improve, there has been greater mutual appreciation of the other. But misunderstanding and prejudice still exist. It is our task to dispel it. This presentation will be one person's journey.

Abbot Timothy Wright was Abbot at Ampleforth Abbey and studied at Manchester University. After retiring he worked in the Pontifical Beda College while at the same time promoting Muslim-Benedictine dialogue. While at the Beda he was able to undertake research into the relationship of the Rule of Benedict to the Holy Qur'an, which ended with a PhD and a book from it called No Peace without Prayer, Encouraging Christians and Muslims to Pray, a Benedictine Perspective.

Donations will be taken at the door for Abbot Timothy Wright's ministry of providing and encouraging Christian-Muslim dialogues.

* Travis Jacobsen, a frequent St. Placid volunteer, joined us for dinner and then helped us set up for a program. Travis's mother, Patty Jacobsen, is also a regular volunteer at the Priory reception desk.

WE ARE GRATEFUL for our Global Connection to Sister Mariangela, OSB. Some years ago she stayed with us for her sabbatical time. Today she is Abbess of San Giuseppe in Assisi, Italy. It was Sister Mariangela who reported to the Communio Internationalis Benedictinarum (international organization for Benedictine women) about the extensive damage to both women's and men's monasteries in Italy during August and September earthquakes. WE ARE GRATEFUL for the spirit of Resilience we see in our Sister Communities in Italy as well as our own ability to continue making friends with change. Truly, “Wisdom displays her strength from one end of the earth to the other ordering all things for good.” (Wisdom 8:1)

Oblate News

Oblates began a new year of monthly meetings on September 11, welcoming oblate candidate Kathy Androes-Downes as well as new guests Jennifer Way, Ryan Likes and Cecelia Romero-Likes (and their baby daughter Amethyst Rose).

Oblate Camille Wooden is currently assisting Sister Lucy Wynkoop as co-director of Oblates.

This year we will be finishing our book study of Joan Chittister's Monasteries of the Heart, deepening our understanding and practice of lectio divina, and looking at new possibilities for study next year.

We will be joining in a Year of Prayer for the Italian monasteries damaged in the August 2016 earthquake. Oblates of Saint Martin's Abbey ran a rummage sale over several weekends in November and December to benefit the monasteries, some of which sustained extensive damage. If you would like to help in reconstruction, especially of women's monasteries which were hard hit, please see the address above in For This We Give Thanks.

Our Lady of Guadalupe, Mystical Rose

When you come to the Reception desk in the monastery lobby, you will now see just to the left of the window our lovely Lady of Guadalupe. This small statue used to be at the Reception desk of St. Placid High School and Priory. With her, we greet you and offer you our hospitality.

We, the Benedictine Sisters of St. Placid Priory, a monastic community, cultivate a contemplative spirit that leads to hospitality and works of justice. We witness Gospel values in building community. We are committed to nurturing spiritual growth in ourselves and others, collaborative leadership, stewardship of the environment, and taking risks in following God's call.

Sister Laura's Scriptorium: Books that Merit Attention

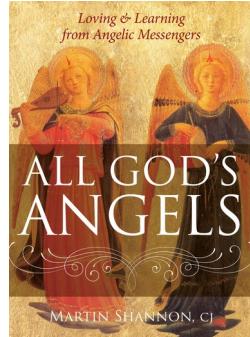

Prayer in the Catholic Tradition. A Handbook of Practical Approaches, edited by Robert Wicks, Franciscan Media, 2016. This is a wonderful resource for spiritual directors, pastoral ministers, and those who desire a deeper and more diverse prayer life. Topics are quite broad, beginning with "Prayerfulness" and concluding 45 chapters later with "Prayer in Chaos, Commotion, and Clutter." Beware: I contributed the chapter on Prayer in the Benedictine Tradition.

Christ the Merciful: Enriching Your Faith and Prayer Life Through the Many Names of Jesus, by Brother Victor-Antoine d'Avila-Latourrette, Paraclete Press, 2016. This is a nice source for pondering and meditation as Brother Victor-Antoine gleans from scripture and early Church sources to break open meanings of the many possible titles for Jesus. He remains a popular author.

All God's Angels. Loving & Learning from Angelic Messengers, Paraclete Press, 2016. This is a beautiful reflection on angelic encounters recorded in scripture accompanied by selections of sacred art work. Keep this near your prayer space.

Light When It Comes. Trusting Joy, Facing Darkness & Seeing God in Everything, by Chris Anderson, Eerdmans, 2016. This is a lovely invitation to ponder significant "God-moments" in our life, those experiences, however brief, that we might dismiss or overlook. A great source for lectio divina.

October 31, 1517. Martin Luther and the Day that Changed the World, by Martin Marty, Paraclete Press, 2016. 500 years ago the monk, Martin Luther, pinned his 95 theses on the cathedral door –an act of love for a church that was in deep distress. This is a short but important meditation on its impact for all contemporary seekers as we approach this anniversary.

What's New at the Priory Store –

—by Zoila Roberts

Have you every wished to find the card that says exactly what you want to say but you could not put it into words? Well, then, you may want to pay a visit to our gift shop. We have some very lovely cards with a special touch and thought put into just the right words.

It may also be hard to find words of comfort or help when someone is journeying with a loved one at the end of life. We have a beautiful selection of books on death and dying. One of these can help you to cope with the process of letting a loved one go...and with the grief process after they have passed away.

The Prayer Bear, in various colors, makes a charming gift for little ones just learning to bring their hopes and cares to Jesus.

We have a new Spanish language corner too, for our friends who speak and read Spanish.
¡Dios los bendiga a todos!
